Welcome to the July issue of the Advertiser Magazine

Well, as this issue goes to press, we are almost half way through 2022. How did that happen? Is time moving faster than ever or, is it just as we age it seems that way?

It's hotter than the surface of Mercury out there and rammed with summer visitors. An empty parking space is like a distant memory or an urban myth. Not that the heat and the traffic and the crowds are causing us any stress at all and, the lady from Madrid whom I tackled to the ground in Mercadona last Saturday in a fight over the last free-range chicken, well she was completely to blame!

This month we bring you an issue jam packed full of great articles, adverts from our local businesses along with some fantastic photos of recent fiestas and fund-raising events.

Enjoy this issue and try not to let the heat get to you!

Andrew & Cheryl

LifeStyle

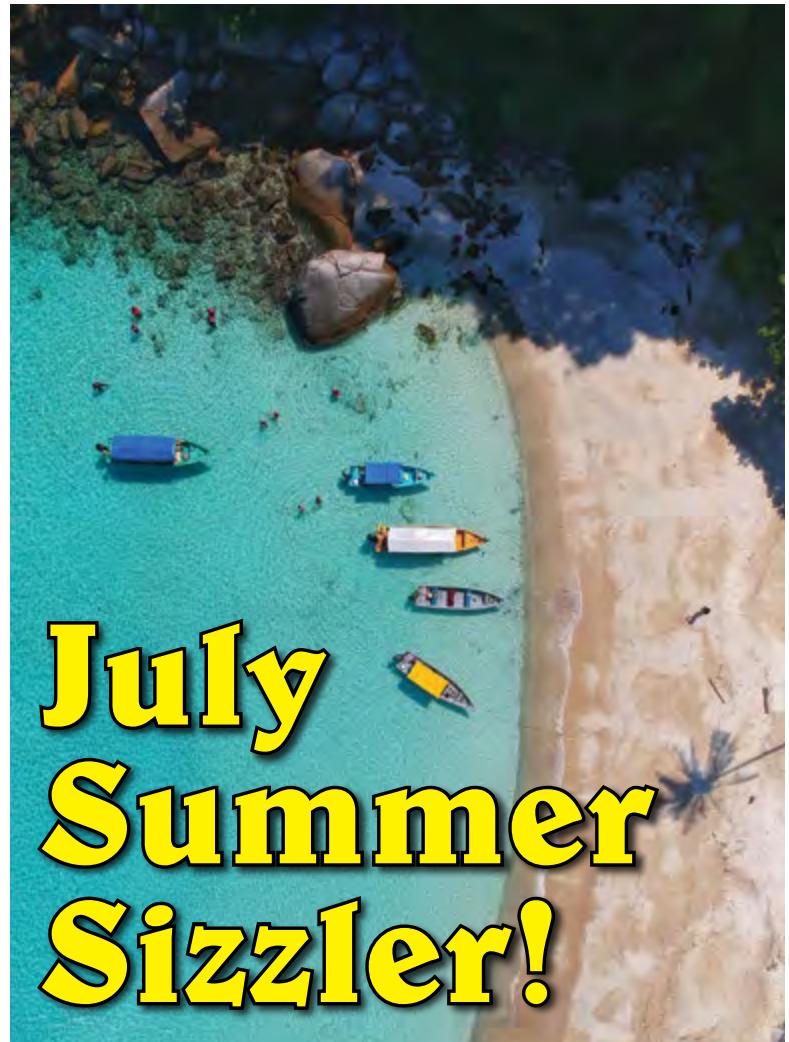

That title sounds more like a hamburger advert and I'm not intentionally trying to sell you one of my "Brad's World Famous Hamburger (trademark pending)". I don't have any ability to be able to open a bar or restaurant, nor the drive to work such long hours, nor the determination to make it successful. I only have a hamburger.

However, all the brilliant people who work in the service industries should be applauded. It's often a hard, thankless task where we, as a customer, only tend to notice when things go wrong. We often miss the fantastic work that goes on behind the scenes so that our food is hot, our drink is cold and our room ready on time. Come to think of it, I need one of these people at home!

WHICH IS YOUR FAVOURITE BEACH?

In our neck of the woods, we're fortuitous enough to have a plethora of choices when it comes to having a splash in the Med Sea. Mojácar and Vera both have literally kilometres of sandy beaches, but I'm going to give you the low down on some of my favourite spots, usually a short drive away, or a long way if you get lost.

- La Playa Amarilla just on the other of Aguilas is a beautiful spot protected by Isla de Fraile. It's great for snorkelling with plenty of unusual looking fish to look at and you can paddle across to the island as well. To get there, take the second road on the right after Decathlon and drive up over the hill. Well worth it!
- Playa de los Cecedores is on the farthest entrance to San Juan de los Torreros right on the border with Murcia. A lovely horse-shoe shaped beach keeps the water calm to allow young and old to bathe without issue. A fantastic place to spend a day.
- Cala Peñon Cortado is an exceptional little beach with plenty of things to explore. Located just a little way past Villaricos, it's quite an unusual place. With some tunnels being remnants of the regions aluminium days, you can swim, walk or scout the area. Be sure to go through the tunnel near the carpark for a nice lookout point.

July Summer Sizzler!

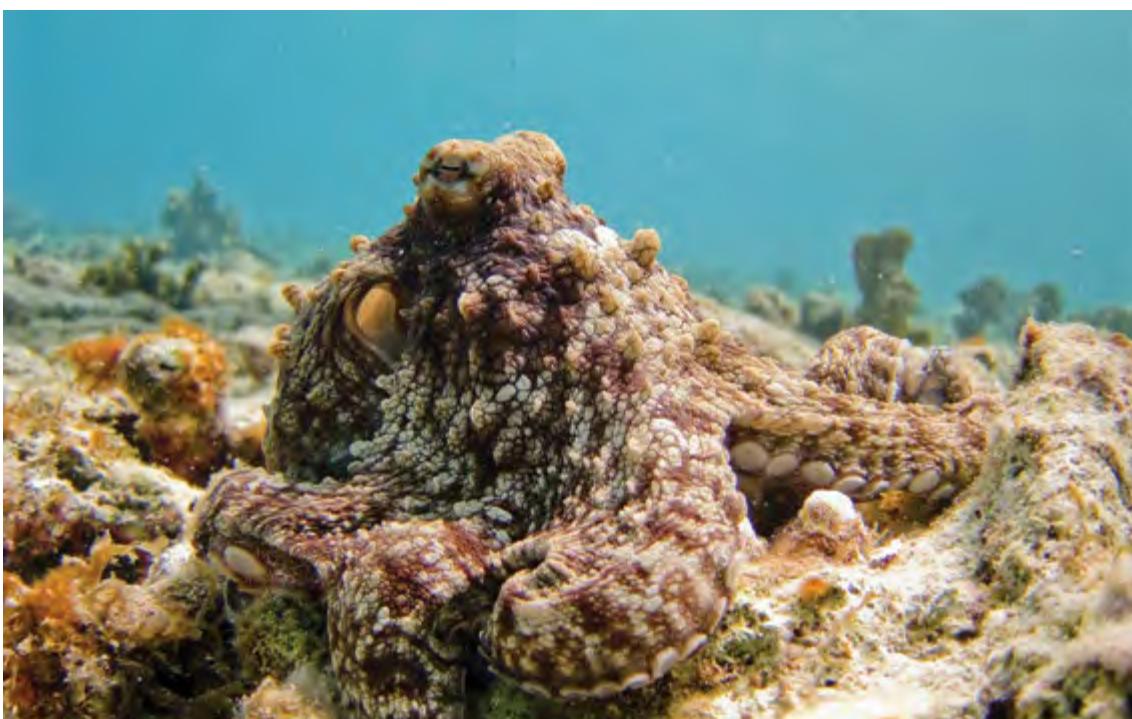

- Playa del Barranco de Sopalmo is a real retreat beach. When you're tired of the crowds, this is a gorgeous beach to head to, especially in the late afternoon when the sun drops behind the cliffs. Simply drive down the rumbla from Sopalmo, although the trick is to walk around the first group of rocks and it really opens up. I also saw my first octopus there!
- Playa de San Pedro is a little further away, but it's sure fun to get to and a thoroughly interesting story behind it. Head to Las Negras and then the fun part is you can take a cheap rubber ducky boat around the old volcano to get there, or if you're feeling energetic, you can walk! The beach is an old hippy commune and there are a couple of bars on the beach.

Whatever beach you like to go to, make sure you, as they said in Australia in the 80's, Slip, Slop, Slap.

Slip on a shirt. Slop on some sun cream. Slap on a hat.

HAS YOUR UK BANK CLOSED YOUR ACCOUNT??

We have notification from a lot of clients that Barclays have closed their UK account and they have been told to make alternative arrangements.

Of course, as Spanish Residents it is not possible to open another Bank account in the UK.

Also some of the other UK banks have stated that they will also be closing UK accounts for Non-UK Residents, or, making significant changes to the accounts.

THE BENEFITS ARE:

- Low to Low/Medium Risk Portfolios
- Tax Efficient Policy for Spanish Tax Residents
- Minimum Investment of £20,000/30,000€

Bon Appétit!

Leftovers! I was looking for a bit of inspiration for this month's recipes and after peering into my fridge to decide what I could manage to eat up/freeze/throw away before going on holiday, I realised I had several things right there in front of me to make some tasty meals.

The 1/2 an aubergine with the help of an egg and some parmesan made these lovely fritters that my Italian Grandfather use to make for us, it took me right back to having my cheek pinched and being asked at breakfast time what I wanted for dinner!

Ingredients

Serves 2 for lunch
 1 Aubergine sliced into 5mm slices
 2 beaten eggs
 2 tablespoons grated parmesan
 1/2 tsp salt
 Freshly ground black pepper
 Oil for frying

Method

There's no need to salt and drain aubergines these days as the bitterness has been cultivated out of them now.

Beat the eggs well and mix in the parmesan, salt, and a good grind of black pepper. Heat a couple of tablespoons of oil in a medium frying pan on a medium heat. Dip the slices of aubergine into the egg mix getting as much coating as possible then quickly transfer to your pan. Gently fry, turning regularly until they are golden brown on both sides and the aubergine is soft. Transfer to a warm oven while cooking the remaining slices. Serve warm with a mixed salad.

Did you know that you don't need to use pine nuts to make pesto? Almonds work very well too, and as I had a tired bunch of basil and an open bag of almonds this was the perfect way to use them up.

PASTA WITH ALMOND AND BASIL PESTO

Ingredients

To make the pesto:
 50g blanched almonds
 1 large bunch basil leaves
 50g grated parmesan or vegetarian alternative
 2 garlic cloves
 150ml extra-virgin olive oil

Method

Toast the almonds in a dry frying pan. Tip into a food processor with the basil, Parmesan, garlic and some seasoning. Whizz together while slowly pouring in the olive oil. That's it!

This will keep in an air-tight jar in the fridge for 2 weeks. Just add a little olive oil to the top to keep it preserved.

To serve, mix a good dollop into cooked pasta of your choice and serve hot or cold. I also added a handful of cherry tomatoes. This makes a great salad to serve with a BBQ, and it also works well with shredded chicken added.

Another ideal dish to serve with your BBQ is courgette ribbons with sweet chilli.

COURGETTES

Ingredients

Half a large courgette per person as a side dish.
 Oil for frying

Sweet chilli sauce

Method

Finely slice your courgettes lengthways either with a wide veg peeler, mandolin or carefully with a knife.

Heat a little oil in a ridged griddle pan, then lightly brush your courgette slices with a little more oil, and cook on a medium high heat. Cook long enough to soften and get some colour onto them. If they are nice and thin this won't take long at all. Transfer slices to a bowl once cooked and when all are ready mix in enough sweet chilli to coat, about a tablespoon per courgette.

FRITTATA

A Frittata is the Italian equivalent of a tortilla and differs as other vegetables are added along with the potatoes and onions. I had half a red pepper to use up so I added this too. Frittata is also finished off under the grill but I flipped this with a plate as per the tortilla method.

Ingredients

2 medium sized potatoes sliced - not too thick, you are aiming to fully cook these in 5 mins.

1/2 large red onion sliced and cut again into half moons

1/2 red pepper

Salt & pepper

4 beaten eggs

Method

Bring the sliced potatoes to the boil and cook for 5 minutes or until just tender.

Meanwhile in a medium frying pan gently fry the onions and thinly sliced pepper until soft. Drain and tip in the potatoes and mix in carefully without breaking up the potato. Into your beaten egg add salt and pepper, then pour over the vegetables. Cook gently until nice and firm underneath, and not too runny on top. Taking a plate, place over the frying pan and turn the whole lot over so the frittata transfers to the plate. Slide it back into the pan to continue cooking what was the top. When golden and firm slide onto a plate and serve warm or cold.

Beautiful You

The Law of Attraction

I am often asked if I believe in the law of attraction, sometimes referred to as cosmic ordering, to which my answer is, that I believe that what we focus our attention on, quickly becomes a reality. You can call it what you will, but in my experience we have an amazing potential to influence what comes into our lives.

You only need to spend half an hour with a pessimist who will almost enjoy telling you how nothing ever goes right for them, something always goes wrong with their plans, or they don't believe they are meant to be happy, to realise that their own thoughts are self sabotaging. Faith is a very powerful tool and I truly believe that if you think it is possible, then it is, likewise, if you expect to fail then you already have!

There are ways to focus your thoughts to help you to bring your goals into being, the obvious one is a vision board. This is so simple to do.

First you will need your board, it can be a pin board, or a blank canvas from any of the Chinese Shops, for a few euros. Then you collect photos, and images of what you want. Your ideal home, car etc, and some pictures of yourself to pin onto the image of the home, or yacht ! The image of you should be to scale, so it looks like you are in the home, car, boat etc. On one corner of the board stick as many different currencies as you can find. I have banknotes and coins from lots of different countries to encourage abundance from everywhere. I do readings online from lots of different countries in the world so that connects that energy to my future.

If you want to get fitter add a photo from when you were at your best, in good health and happy as the brain will automatically recall that time and unlock memories associated with these times.

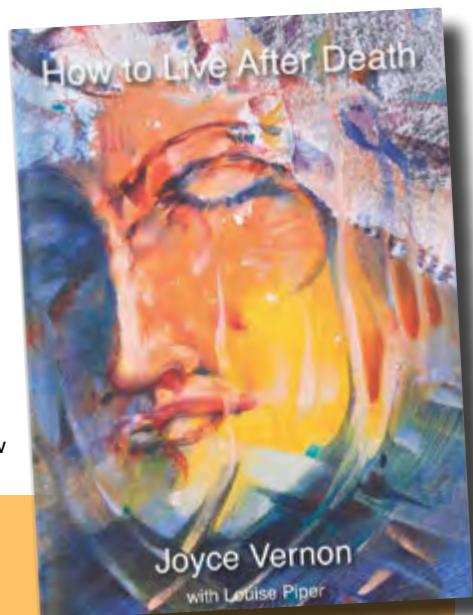

Each memory will trigger the body to remember how it used to be and help you to stick to a new regime. I have had countless occasions when I have really concentrated on exactly what I want, imagined it happening, and in a very short time it has appeared in my life. This happened when I needed financial boosts, a car, something for my home, and recently, even a new man in my life, who is exactly what I ordered !

When you ask for what you want, be as specific as possible, and think carefully. It is easy to just say, Oh I want George Clooney. He is now happily married so you can ask for someone who reminds you of him instead ! Everything is connected, and we are all affected by frequencies and energy, so try your best to stay positive at all times so that you will attract positive people into your life. Obviously you will be put into situations that will test your patience, but although you may not be able to control the situation, you can certainly control how you react to it. Don't stay frustrated or angry for one second longer than is necessary and just breathe and let the tension go from your body and your thoughts. Your happiness is the most valuable thing you have so protect it as if it was a fragile treasure. Nobody else will care for it more than you can.

So get your thinking caps on, and get to work on your vision board, make it your pictorial shopping list, add phrases that inspire you, such as I deserve everything the universe has for me which will bring me joy and happiness. It worked for me, I got my new man, new home, and am planning a future wedding, all in the last 3 months ! Now for the lottery win !

Welcome to your monthly hair dot com

By Beth Underhill

Each month I am looking forward to sharing my knowledge of hair care with you. As a Vocational Trainer and Assessor for the examiners SCOTVEC and a salon owner for over 30 years, my passion is the science of hair and how to respect it using salon chemicals.

I will be giving you some useful tips and advice on how you can protect and care for your hair and how to make the most of your crowning glory.

Q) AM I PAYING FOR THE NAME IN EXPENSIVE SHAMPOOS?

The main function of shampoo is that the detergent is designed to remove oil from your scalp and hair.

The oil in your hair is called sebum, fatty oil produced by the sebaceous glands all over your body, but it's mostly noticed on the hair. Sebum oozes out over the hair making unwashed hair quite smelly over a period of time. Sebum also helps the hair fibres smoother and stronger. Sebum over the body makes it waterproof and moisturised.

Shampoos clean away the oil with chemicals known as surfactants in the same way that washing-up liquid works; it simply strips the hair of unwanted oils and dirt,

Other ingredients are there to add colour to the shampoo, provide fragrance, and keep the shampoo stable to increase the shelf life, and to help the ingredients stay uniformly mixed and maintain a suitable pH."

So if all you want to do is remove the oil and dirt, you could theoretically use your dishwashing liquid. But removing all the oil leaves hair feeling dry, squeaky and full of static.

The more expensive shampoos tend to include expensive conditioning agents to prevent this from happening. Some shampoos are tailored to your needs, i.e. Itchy scalp or medicated for dandruff affected hair.

For all of this a lot of research goes into making shampoos, there are a lot to choose from but to achieve a good quality product, research goes into various ingredients, used in the correct proportion to provide a shampoo which is suitable for individuals having different hair types and hair needs. Among the ingredients that go into the making of a quality shampoo are quality detergents, conditioners, thickeners, sequestering agents, pH adjusters, preservatives and specialty additives.

Salon vs supermarket shampoo

Everyone's hair is made of exactly the same properties, the way it behaves varies from person to person. This is why there are so many options when it comes to what we use to cleanse our hair. It's depends on how you want your hair to appear and how you want it to behave.

Unfortunately a lot of us don't really know what type of hair we have, if you are not sure ask your hairdresser on your next visit to give you a consultation to determine what is the best shampoo for you as you might pick a shampoo for oily hair, and then find your hair is stripped of too much oil, leaving it hard to manage and feeling a bit brittle.

Salon products can be a little bit fancier because they can rely on the hairdressers to give advice and choose the right shampoo for the customer.

The shampoo sold in the supermarkets tends to be a more generic shampoo, it relies on the customer to make his or her own decision.

Enjoy your Summer.

Resounding success for Paws-Patas

Groundforce 2022 held at the PAWS-PATAS shelter on the 14th May was a "resounding success" says President Christine Knox.

Around 25 people turned out to help clean up the shelter and cut back overgrown trees and bushes following the terrible winter and floods that had taken their toll.

Christine said, "Without the help of these kind hearted and generous people, our shelter would still be in a terrible state, and I want to say thank you to everyone who came along that day."

"Covid, and the last poor winter, has had a shocking effect on the volunteering personnel we usually get helping to keep all our dogs and cats safe and cared for, and so there has been little time and opportunity for maintenance works".

PAWS-PATAS are currently desperate for more Volunteers, which will include people who want to help with dog walking, fostering, maintenance, transporting and much more.

"Our shelter is always in need of volunteers, without you we can't keep the shelter running. If you love animals as much as we do please join us and make a huge difference!"

Please complete a volunteer application form on our website: www.paws-patas.org/volunteering/

Even if you can only spare a couple of hours a week, we'd love to welcome you to TEAM PAWS-PATAS

You Can Not Be Serious

It all came about because of a can of Tonic Water.

We have various cans of drink of one sort or another in the fridge keeping nice and cold. I won't bore you with an in-depth and detailed list of them all, suffice it to say there are several.

However, the Higher Authority had a taste for a tonic to keep her gin company. She selected one of the several and brought it out from its hallowed sanctuary in the fridge.

'Will you open this for me please?' She enquired. 'I've just had my nails done.'

This particular can was exactly the same in design as all the other cans currently available on the market. Cylindrical, slightly indented at the bottom and with a little gadget at the top which you are supposed to operate to open the can.

Somebody has carefully thought out the exact size and shape of this gadget, and all I can say is that they wasted their time.

For a start the size of the ring is far too small for the average finger - only a child's finger can fit into that silly little metal circle.

Assuming that you have access to a child whose fingers are of the right dimensions for fitting into this ring it will not have the strength to pull it hard enough to break the specially weakened indentation and allow the drink contained within to be poured out.

But all these complications are as nothing compared to the initial problem confronting the putative drinker of the can's contents. This problem is a masterstroke of idiotic design - the whole thing is set flush to the top, so there is no chance of anybody getting their fingers into the ring at all, no matter how small, dexterous or superhumanly strong those fingers are.

Thinking about it I reached the conclusion that to open a can successfully what one needed was not a human at all, but one of those small monkeys; the sort with long humanlike fingers who are possessed with incredible dexterity and a disproportionate amount of strength for their tiny size.

As I took the can from the Higher Authority I sighed. We do not have, and are unlikely ever to have a small monkey with etc, etc. So for lack of a monkey I used the next best thing - the back of a kitchen knife.
