The Advertiser Magazine

Welcome

to December & January's issue of the Advertiser Magazine

I can't believe that this is the last issue of The Advertiser magazine for 2022. I honestly don't know where the time has gone. It's certainly been an eventful year with lots of fun times and happy memories to look back on.

We have decided not to produce a January issue in 2023. The reasons for this is that many of our advertisers are still preparing for Christmas at the time we need to go to print whilst others are already closed for Christmas holidays. Also it gives us, our staff and our contributors the chance to have an uninterrupted break.

A massive thank you to all who make The Advertiser magazine so popular especially our loyal customers and dedicated writers.

We wish you all a very merry Christmas and a healthy and prosperous New Year.

*Have a wonderful Christmas
Andrew & Cheryl*

THE Advertiser Magazine is every month, except for January. It is bursting with useful adverts for a broad range of businesses located in Mojacar, Garrucha, Vera Playa, Antas, Los Gallardos, Bedar, Turre, Albox, Alfoquia and Zurgena.

Hugely popular with readers, the magazine is known for its photographic reporting of local events. It also contains articles written by the local community, for the local community.

A minimum of 5,000 copies of the advertiser are printed each and every month and delivered to over 200 local distribution points as well as to all of our advertisers.

The Advertiser magazine is also available to download from our website www.advertisermojacar.com and approximately 3,000 downloads are recorded each month.

This means that you can always get a copy.

To advertise please get in touch using the details below.

LifeStyle

The Colder Months

As we approach the winter solstice, the days are getting shorter and the temperature is finally dropping, at least once the sun has gone down. We've been lucky with our extended summer and usually sunny days, but we need to think of ways to keep the old heating bill down, especially with electricity bills going through the roof and leaving a hole that lets the heat out. So firstly, fix the hole!

3 SPANISH TRICKS FOR CHEAPER HEAT

1 - You know that big yellowish orb in the sky? Well, that's the cheapest heat supply and we here at The Advertiser Magazine only charge 1 cent a day for you to use it. The best way to use is to open up you blinds and curtains and let the light stream in as much as possible, all day long. It seems obvious, but you'd be amazed how often it's overlooked.

2 - A "brasero", traditionally was a round metal plate especially designed to sit in a hole under the table. The plate was then filled with hot coals from the fire to heat the space under the table and kept in with long cloth table cloths. By sitting with your legs under the table, you remained nice and toasty. Nowadays there are good quality and cheap to run electric versions. I find ours to be perfect for night time when watching TV and we don't have to put on our big heating, plus I've only melted 1 or 2 slippers over the years!

3 - More common sense items from our Spanish hosts: wear more clothes! Put a jumper on instead of walking around in a t-shirt. Close the doors to rooms that are not used, no point heating rooms if there is no one in them. Turn the thermostat down a degree or two. Get cooking! Another reason to bake and cook while warming the soul.

OTHER PLANS FOR COLDER MONTHS

Winter is often a good time to get a little project out of the way. Maybe you have a bathroom that could do with an update. Recently my father in-law repainted the dark kitchen tiles to a bright white and has given the whole room a very refreshing feel. I sometimes wish I had some sort of handyman skills!

A little bit of tile-paint is a cheap way to give a big change. A few new décor changes, like towel colours and a plant and bob's your uncle - a sparkling new room.

Personally, I'd like to wish everyone a great Christmas and a fantastic New Year. I hope you get to have a meal and drink with all your loved ones. Thanks to everyone that has written in this year to tell me how bad my jokes are, an overabundance of emails telling me that my opinions have been scientifically disproven and the one asking if I would like therapy. I appreciate them.

If you have any feedback for me, to dispute, argue, agree, support, harass or to pinch, flick me an email bradh_os@hotmail.com

Bon Appetit

Can you believe it's nearly Christmas? I certainly can as the kitchen at No.1 La Meseta has been a hive of activity in recent weeks. Christmas cakes baked, mincemeat made, ingredients mixed up and soaking ready for Christmas puddings, not to mention planning for all the other delights we are going to serve with our Festive Afternoon Teas.

HOMEMADE MINCEMEAT

We literally make hundreds of mince pies here for our Christmas teas, Christmas fairs and private orders, so a couple of jars of mincemeat are just not going to do it! Making your own is easy peasy and infinitely better than shop bought. This recipe is enough for 6 standard sized jam jars so just adjust quantities according to suit your requirements.

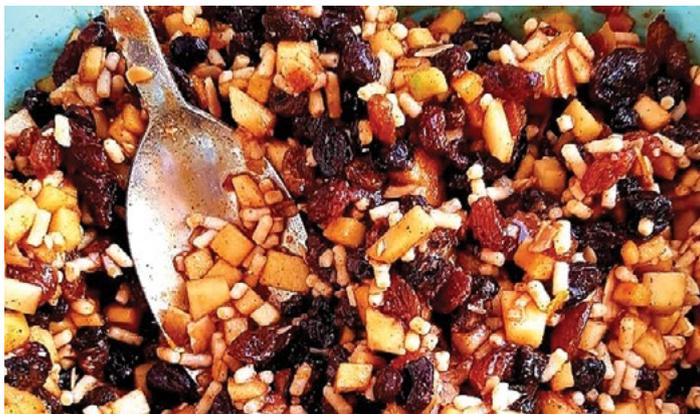

Ingredients

- 450g sharp green apples - cored and chopped small (no need to peel them)
- 50g whole almonds, cut into slivers
- 4 level teaspoons mixed ground spice
- ½ level teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ level teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
- 6 tablespoons brandy
- 225g shredded suet
- 350g raisins
- 225g sultanas
- 225g currants
- 225g mixed candied peel
- 350g soft dark brown sugar
- Grated zest and juice of 2 oranges
- Grated zest and juice of 2 lemons

Method:

All you do is combine all the ingredients, except for the brandy, in a large mixing bowl, mixing them together very thoroughly. Cover and leave in a cool place for at least 12 hours or overnight. Pre-heat the oven to its lowest setting and cover loosely with foil and place in the oven for around 2 hours stirring halfway through. Don't worry about the appearance of the mincemeat, which will look a little fatty. This is how it should look.

As it cools, stir it from time to time; the fat will coagulate and, instead of it being in tiny shreds, it will encase all the other ingredients. When the mincemeat is completely cold, stir in the brandy. Pack in sterilised jars. When filled, cover with waxed discs and seal. It will keep in a cool, dark cupboard for at least a year.

GINGERBREAD MEN

There's nothing like the smell of gingerbread baking for all the Christmas feels!

Ingredients

- 350g plain flour, plus extra for rolling out
- 1 tsp bicarbonate of soda
- 2 tsp ground ginger
- 1 tsp ground cinnamon
- 125g butter
- 175g light soft brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 4 tbsps golden syrup

Method

Sift together the flour, bicarbonate of soda, ginger and cinnamon and pour into the bowl of a food processor. Add the butter and blend until the mix looks like breadcrumbs. Stir in the sugar.

Lightly beat the egg and golden syrup together, add to the food processor and pulse until the mixture clumps together. Tip the dough out, knead briefly until smooth. Wrap in cling film and leave to chill in the fridge for 15 minutes.

Preheat the oven to 180C. Line two baking trays with greaseproof paper.

Roll the dough out to a 0.5cm/¼in thickness on a lightly floured surface. Using cutters, cut out the gingerbread men (or stars or any shape you like) and place on the baking tray, leaving a gap between them.

Bake for 12–15 minutes, or until lightly golden-brown. Leave on the tray for 10 minutes and then move to a wire rack to finish cooling. When cooled, decorate with the writing icing and cake decorations as desired

Wishing you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

Beautiful You

We are still here! Reflections on 2022.

It has been a year of surprises, high expectations immediately followed by crashing truths and life changing experiences.

Thinking back to January and how I was expecting 2022 to turn out and comparing it to the actual life events is fascinating. I have lost some dear friends this year and made new ones and, I am feeling so lucky to be able to feel settled in my life.

The winter months are fast approaching, I have my new diary waiting and a new home to move into. I am grateful for all of these blessings. So many people in so many parts of the world would feel like they had won the lottery to live in this beautiful warm country with so much freedom. It is a tragedy that mankind is unable to be satisfied with what it has and must endlessly look to gather more land, wealth, resources, profits and to hell with the consequences. This is the most amazing planet and yet we allow it to be ravaged for its natural resources at our own peril.

This article is about taking time now, at the end of the year, to reflect on what went well for us and what taught us tough lessons so that we can stabilise our thoughts and plan for our new year, instead of rushing headlong into the same chaos of life. We are gifted with love, compassion, reason and guilt. Yes, guilt. If we feel guilty over an action we took, or a thought we had, then this shows that we are growing in empathy. So, we must learn quickly and move onwards. To dwell in guilt is futile whereas, to acknowledge and learn from it is wisdom itself.

I endeavour to never regret anything. I will sit with it until I understand what caused it, as I know that as humans, we are a complex mix of emotions and we are blessed with the ability to assess and reason our way through life. My life philosophy is simple: If I can't help you, I won't hurt you. So, easy and clear rules for living are my foundations. What are yours?

I long for a simple life, a warm cosy home, good friends and good health. That's it. I don't crave wealth or material things as I learned many moons ago how worthless these are. My treasures are my loved ones, those still walking this earth in person, and equally, those who are here in spirit. Everyday joys like seeing the sunrise, the clouds, smiling faces and doggy hugs are priceless and I hope to enjoy so much more of these in 2023.

So, my reflections are manifold as I start to think of my new year. There will be work and first drafts of my new book. I intend to paint more, laugh more and travel more. Life is indeed an adventure and mine has certainly been far from dull. I think my life story was written by a grumpy sceptical Hobbit with a very acerbic wit who wanted to test his characters madness. I think at times that he might have succeeded ha ha, but I am still breathing so I hope the characters have more fun in their later years. I much prefer the Shire chapters to the Mordor challenges of my life!

If any of you are struggling this Christmas, don't sit feeling isolated and depressed. I am a message away and you are welcome to chat, visit, message or email me. The door is unlocked, the coffee is free and I do give great hugs when sometimes that is what we need the most. Your loved ones will be close to you and you can expect to feel the pain of separation particularly sharp over this time of year.

It was the best of times, and the worst of times, as said by Dickens. Life is a balancing act between these two opposites. I wish you everything you could possibly need, with some of what you want, and that 2023 is graceful, serene and productive for you. The best is yet to come.

With love and gratitude to you all for reading my words all year. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

What's the problem

At the Advertiser magazine, we recognise that everyone needs to reach out for advice now and then. Seeking the help of someone who can not only offer a completely objective point of view but, is also qualified to advise you, may not always be possible.

We are delighted to be able to offer the services of a qualified counsellor and psychotherapist, Theresa Wood, to answer any of our readers issues or problems.

Dear Theresa

I'm a 24-year-old woman. I live alone.

I lost my Grandad two years ago; we were really close all my life. My parents are great, but growing up all my spare time was spent with my Grandad. He was a farmer and showed me everything as though he was telling me secrets nobody else knew about farming. I can now see that at each stage of my life he introduced examples of what I needed to cope with the next part of my life. School, Adolescence, work etc.

I don't know how to live on without him or what to do next. He had a horrible death from cancer and faded away.

Thanks Allanha

Hi Allanha

I'm so sorry to hear you lost your lovely Grandad. It sounds like he loved you very much. I'm sure you brought so much joy into his life, passing on all his knowledge to you. Grief is a very normal experience to go through and obviously the more love there has been the greater the loss.

Two years, especially coming out of a pandemic, is still very new. Try to remember all the good days of your Grandad's life rather than the last few days. He will always live on in all the bits of wisdom and love he gave to you.

Look after yourself

Theresa

We posted this question on a confidential facebook group. The answers we received were varied. Here are some of them...

Dear Allanha

I completely understand what you are going through. I was 39 years old when I lost my Grandad. I thought my world had ended. I just couldn't believe he was no longer here. I had a wonderful relationship with him and he was a very strong charismatic character, one of the most intelligent people I had ever met. He always had advice or help on any subject. Losing him made me feel untethered and absolutely heartbroken. You said it has been two years since you lost your Grandad, well it does get easier. It took me about two years to come to terms with the fact that he was gone. Everyone is different and grief has no timeline. Please be patient with yourself. You will, in time, begin to get over this. Try to remind yourself how lucky you were to have had such an amazing person in your life.

Cheryl

I think this is a lovely idea but also agree with the previous answer, you need someone who can act as a support when you need it. Didn't you have a wonderful source of nature's secrets? My Grandad passed away when I was just 6. I always missed the opportunity of closeness with him. You must have wonderful memories. You can always talk to him; he will listen and know your sadness.

Barbara

If you are grieving, lonely or depressed please do not suffer alone. The Samaritans in Spain are available to help. This time of year can be difficult in so many ways.

Call FREEPHONE 900 525 100 (from Spain)

Or visit their website: www.samaritansinspain.com

Dear Allanha, perhaps plant something in your Grandad's honour, nurture it and watch it thrive using the lessons you learned from your Grandad. Talk to your plant as if your Grandad were next to you, show him how much you learned about love and growth from him. I hope this idea helps you.

Bridie

Dear Allanha, I 100% empathise with your situation and I'm so sorry you find yourself in this very traumatic place. My story is slightly different, my husband passed away in Spain in 2021, so I can tell you about grief my dear. I myself after 15 months have been to see a grief counsellor, it's early days but talking face to face to someone who wasn't a family member or friend is good for me. Maybe this isn't a road you want to travel, but I find it's helping me. Sending my love

Chris

Q) WHY IS MY HAIR BREAKING?

A) Hair is made up of mainly proteins and has moisture for stretch ability. There are various reasons why hair breaks, depending on the hair type and condition but here are a few reasons to consider if your hair seems to be breaking.

NOT ENOUGH MOISTURE

Your hair needs moisture for stretch ability; this prevents breakage. Try using a shampoo for dry and damaged hair or a hydrating shampoo and conditioner. Do not use hydrating shampoo on fine flyaway hair as it can cause it to become flat due to the hydrating components within the shampoo. For fine flyaway hair use a shampoo for damaged hair.

HEATING APPLIENCES

Heat from heated hair appliances can make the hair weaker by drying out the natural moisture; use a heat protector before applying heat, this will prevent the loss of natural moisture. Hair will start to disintegrate at high temperatures over a prolonged time, bear this in mind when using hot hair straighteners.

STRETCHING WET HAIR

Hair is at its weakest point when it is wet as water is trapped between the chains of proteins within the hair. Blot excess water with a microfiber towel; do not rub as this can cause the hair to tangle and break, then lightly blast excess water (about 60%) from the hair before using a wide tooth comb on long hair or a comb on shorter hair. Use an ionic hair dryer for smoother results.

CHEMICAL TREATMENTS

Using chemicals to colour hair can deplete proteins within the hair, the proteins are broken down using an oxidation process to remove natural colour and deposit artificial colour. The hair can only take a certain amount of oxidation before it starts to break. Keep hair colouring to a minimum on the mid lengths and ends.

PILLOWCASES

I am often asked why hair is breaking in various areas even though chemicals have not been used. Tossing and turning at night on a synthetic pillow with a cotton pillow case can cause heat and friction to the hair resulting in frizz and breakage. Try sleeping with a feather pillow and using a silk or satin pillow slip.

OVER WASHING YOUR HAIR

Washing your hair more than necessary strips it of its natural oils, this natural oil protects the scalp from infection. Shampoos are designed to swell the cuticle to remove dust and debris, this opening of the cuticle can also cause damage to the hair if used too often. Washing with a mild pH balanced shampoo up to three times a week is more than sufficient to keep hair and scalp healthy and clean.

OVERDUE HAIRCUTS

Between 6 and 8 weeks hair naturally starts to split at the ends, skipping trims will cause the split ends to travel up the hair each time the hair is brushed or washed. Regular trims will prevent the hair from becoming damaged.

REMEMBER TO DEEP CONDITION

Deep conditioning products contain concentrated components that will leave behind a film that won't wash away like normal surface conditioners. Using reconstructing shampoos, conditioners and sprays on wet hair will act like fillers and strengthen the hair.

A BALANCED DIET

Eating a balanced diet can improve the quality of hair, hair is made up of proteins but be aware too much protein within the hair can cause it to break.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Arthur Davies and Chris Church did it for the first time! Being the winners of the last two Handicap Tournaments at the Snooker - Club –Mojácar.

First, in June 2022, Arthur Davies won the club tournament, beating Clive Havis with 4 frames to 1. The semi's in that tournament were:

Arthur Davies 3 – Bazil 0, and Clive 3 – Jerry Downes 2.

For the first time, Spanish musician Fabio and Belgium Eddy Clement reached the quarter finals.

Later on in October/November 2022, Jerry Downes was beaten by Chris Church in a dramatic final 4 to 0. The result looks clearer than the battle really was, and Church did not often go there on Sundays, but to the Snooker Club.

In the Semi's Jerry beat first time semi-finalist Staff de Paepe with 3 to 1 and Chris beat master Ian in a close match with 3 to 2. Apart reached the quarters our Oldy Bazil, Steve Magic, Wieland and again Fabio.

The Mojácar club tournament is played in round robin groups of five or six players, and then it is played best of 5 in the quarters and in the semi-finals.

The next handicap tournament is scheduled for the first months of 2023.

The Snooker Club Mojácar is located just on the side of the well-known "Mercadona Supermarket" at Mojácar beach at the "El Zoco".

The One-Year-Membership is only 20€ and holiday members are admitted. Sign up now and get the membership for 2023 (Tel. 950 473 041 or mobile: 634 364 311 and 609 026 526 as well for Spanish speakers)
